

The Daily Courant.

Friday, March 5. 1703.

From the Paris Gazette, dated Feb. 24.

Warsaw, January 26.

Yesterday the Great Treasurer of Lithuania receiv'd Letters from the King of Sweden; and at the same time Monsieur Waffschlager his Swedish Majesty's Resident in this City, receiv'd Orders from his Master, relating to the present Disposition of Affairs. 1500 Horse, of the Body of Troops commanded by General Meidell, is advanc'd towards Thorn, and are follow'd with the rest by that General. Another Detachment is sent towards Petricow in the Palatinate of Siradia, to chase away some Saxon Troops that commit great Disorders in that part of the Country. The Swedes use their utmost Endeavours still to engage the Palatinates of Russia and Beltz, the Army of the Crown, and the great General, to espouse their Interest. We are not certainly inform'd where the King of Sweden is, tho' tis believ'd he is at Lublin. Some Advices assure us, That he will go to Lemberg, and that the Great General of the Crown being made acquainted with his Intention of coming thither, had retir'd out of that City with great Precipitation. The Report runs, That the Sieur Oginski is joyn'd by Twenty four thousand Muscovites. The Cossacks have plunder'd and burnt all the little Towns, Villages and Cottages, round about Caminietz, killing all the Poles and Jews that fell into their hands. There are Letters which say, That they have renew'd the Siege of Miedzibor, and that the Palatine of Kiovia has drawn together a Body of Seven or Eight Thousand Men, in order to attack them.

From the Amsterdam Courant, dated Feb. 27.

Montpelier, Feb. 11. The Malecontents who have taken Arms in the Sevens, continue to commit great disorders, they disarm the Inhabitants of all the Places that are not Protected by the King's Forces, burn the Churches, and Murther all such New Convents that they know or suspect to have formerly betray'd them, and occasion'd their betaking themselves to these Extremities; Mean time the regular Troops commit as great ravage in the Country as the Malecontents, which is in a desperate condition between them both. We have a Report here that there is great Discontents and Murmurings among the Inhabitants of the Province of Dauphine, which are like to break out into an Insurrection.
